RE: DEMONSTRATIONS AT THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION,
AUGUST, 1972

The Republican National Convention (RNC) is scheduled to be held at Miami Beach, Florida, August 21 - 24, 1972.

I. ORGANIZATIONS PLANNING PROTEST DEMONSTRATIONS

- A. MIAMI CONVENTIONS COALITION (MCC);
PEOPLE'S COALITION FOR PEACE AND JUSTICE (PCPJ)

The MCC was formed at a national meeting in Washington, D. C., during May, 1972, as a coalition of groups planning protest activities at the Democratic National Convention (DNC) and RNC, including the Florida People's Coalition
(FPC) and the San Diego Convention Coalition
(SDCC).

The FPC is a state-wide organization established as a pressure group to demonstrate at the DNC, Miami Beach, Florida, July, 1972.

The PCPJ is self-described as a coalition of over 100 organizations which are using massive civil disobedience to combat racism, poverty, repression and war.

The SDCC was formed to organize demonstrations at the RNC at San Diego, California. This organization was dissolved when the site of the RNC was changed from San Diego to Miami Beach, Florida.

RE: AFRO-AM

AFRO-AM

The Afro-Am was officially recognized as an organization at Ohio State University (OSU) during March, 1970, after black students participated in a demonstration and presented demands to the Vice President of OSU. u

The organization's stated purpose is to govern all black organizations on the OSU campus, and to act as an information center for all black students. u

On March 13, 1970, OSU obtained a common pleas injunction prohibiting any further disruption by the students who engaged in campus disruptive tactics by that date. This injunction included the Afro-Am. u

On November 17, 1971, an article appeared in the "Ohio State Lantern", a newspaper published Monday through Friday on the campus of Ohio State University (OSU), Columbus, Ohio, entitled, "Blacks Refuse To Testify". The article stated that on November 16, 1971, A. Donald Bourgeois, Jr., Coordinator of Afro-Am, and other members of Afro-Am, appeared at the meeting of the Centennial Commissions Task Force on hearing ideas for future goals. Bourgeois, Jr., was scheduled to present Afro-Am's views as to future role of blacks on the campus of OSU. Bourgeois, Jr., and other members of Afro-Am present, objected to the presence of news media and after a 45 minute delay, finally left the meeting room after their demands for the ousting for news media was not met. u

WOMEN UNITE AGAINST the WAR

Demonstrate NOVEMBER 6th

November 6 is the date for massive antiwar demonstrations in every region of the country demanding OUT NOW! We have every reason to expect women to participate as women more visibly and in larger numbers than in any antiwar demonstration before.

225 women, in a "Women and the War" workshop at the NPAC-sponsored National Antiwar Convention on July 2-4, decided to endorse the fall actions and build United Women's Contingents. The April 24 United Women's Contingent organized thousands of women as an independent force to demand an immediate end to the war which denies the right of the Vietnamese to self-determination at the same time it robs us of resources that could provide us with child care centers, abortion services, equal pay, decent jobs, and education.

Last April Nixon attacked our right to abortion because he believed in the "sanctity of human life." This from a man who forgot his belief at My Lai; who forgets it daily while he presides over the heaviest saturation bombing in the history of warfare; who forgets it while defoliation spraying causes hundreds of still births and deformities; who forgets it while many thousands of American women die each year at the hands of back street abortionists!

Our job as women is clear: mobilize hundreds and thousands of our sisters as women united against the war November 6 to demand an end to the war. NOW!

JOIN THE UNITED WOMEN'S CONTINGENT!

"OUT NOW!"

FALL ACTION CALENDAR

August 6-9: Hiroshima-Nagasaki Days—Demonstrations to mark the anniversary of the first nuclear bombings and underline the racist character of the war in Southeast Asia.
Oct. 13: Moratorium—Meetings, rallies, demonstrations, teach-ins, and other activities in every city and town. Oct. 25: Veterans Day—Vets and civilians will transform this traditional holiday into a day of solidarity with Vietnam veterans and GIs against the war. These actions will initiate several days of activities by various constituencies of the antiwar movement—women, religious groups, labor, students, Third World, gays, professionals, GIs, and others. Nov. 3: Student Strike—Student Mobilization Committee, the Association of Student Governments, and other junior high, high school and college groups will take part. NOV. 6: A DAY OF MASSIVE REGIONAL ANTIWAR DEMONSTRATIONS—Giant actions on the scale of April 24 in major population centers around the country will cap the fall antiwar campaign. The constituencies who demonstrated during the previous weeks will unite on this day to raise the demand for "Out Now!" by the hundreds of thousands.

PROTEST

Government Violation of
YOUR RIGHTS!

You know about the Suffolk County woman who was arrested for bringing her 14-month-old baby to a lecture on birth control and contraception.

You may also know that a young Gay Woman was SAVAGELY ATTACKED and RAPED by 25 male punks on Long Island this past July.
The local police refused to do anything about this atrocity.

On August 22, in front of Suffolk County Police Headquarters, the police brutally attacked Gay Women and Gay Men who were peacefully protesting a recent abridgement of civil rights. PROOF of this brutality can be seen on GAA videotapes.

NEW YORK RADICAL FEMINISTS

New York Radical Feminists recognizes the oppression of women as a fundamental political oppression wherein women are categorized as an inferior class based upon their sex. It is the aim of radical feminism to organize politically to destroy this sex class system.

We believe that the purpose of male chauvinism is primarily to obtain psychological ego satisfaction, and that only secondarily does this manifest itself in economic relationships. We do not believe that capitalism, or any other economic system, is the cause of female oppression, nor do we believe that female oppression will disappear as a result of purely economic revolution. The political oppression of women has its own class dynamic, namely, the politics of the ego.

As women we are living in a male power structure, and our roles become necessarily a function of men. The services we supply are services to the male ego. We must begin to destroy the notion that we are only servants to the male ego; we must construct alternate selves that are independent and self assertive. It remains for us as women to develop a new dialectic of sex class -- an analysis of the way in which sexual identity and institutions reinforce one another.

Some NYRF Activities:

1. Organizing consciousness-raising groups - All women are welcome to join small groups which meet regularly to increase our awareness of the daily oppression all women experience. From this awareness women develop a feminist political philosophy and do actions with their group or with members of other NYRF groups.
2. Developing a legislative program which covers all feminist issues.
3. Working further on exploring and writing about the various aspects of rape in workshops which came out of the Rape Conference held in April.
4. Coming up - A Conference On The Institution Of Marriage.

Next General Meeting -

6 Arrested In Protest At Monument

By Jay Matthews

Washington Post Staff Writer

Six men were taken into custody by U.S. Park Police at the U.S. Marine Corps Memorial in Arlington yesterday evening after a demonstration by 25 members of the Gay Activists Alliance protesting a police crackdown on homosexual offenses in the monument area.

Fourteen uniformed park police officers moved in after a park police lieutenant told the demonstrators they could not demonstrate on federal property without a permit. The police detained six men carrying signs and let the rest of the group leave the monument grounds.

The Gay Activists Alliance, described by its leaders as a militant homosexual civil rights group, called the demonstration after the press reported that about 60 men had been arrested near the monument on homosexual-related charges in the past four months.

The 30 arrests that led to yesterday's protest were made by park police undercover officers wearing "long hair, mustaches, colorful shirts and tight bellbottom pants, pe-rice and police men and the attorney's office in Alexandria ordered the crackdown after two robberies in a small woods near the monument, a popular meeting place for homosexuals.

Most of those arrested have pleaded guilty to committing "obscene and indecent acts" and been fined $50 each, police said.

"We recommend our bisexual homosexuals do not seek romantic partners in a public place," GAAA president Bob Johnson told the demonstrators. "But we also assert that this activity is the unbridled activity of consenting adults, that heterosexual men and women have sought privacy to make love in wooded areas since the days of Adam and Eve, and that the police could spend time and money to better advantage protecting us all from rapists, muggers, peddlers and thieves."

Johnson, 28, who described himself as a local business man, demanded that police use only uniformed officers to patrol the area and that all homosexuals arrested in the area be exonerated.

"Hundreds of thousands of homosexual American women and men served honorably throughout World War II," Johnson said. "What the hell are Americans now doing, suspecting their homosexual American brothers to be underhanded, undercover tactics of the police state?"

Gay Organizations Meet This Weekend

Leaders of the homosexual liberation movement from across the country were scheduled to address a "Gay Pride" rally today in Lafayette Park.

Cale Yarps, one of the co-ordinators, said today's demonstration marks "the first time the gay movement has come back to Lafayette Park, where homosexuals were once considered criminals—back to the very steps of the White House to say what it has to say."

The rally is part of Gay Pride Week, which will continue in the District through Sunday. However, today's demonstration is the only scheduled event directed to the "straight" public, Warr said.

OTHER PLANNED festival activities include a student procession this afternoon at the Community Bookstore in Georgetown; a gay poetry reading there tonight; free gay movies tonight at the Metropole Theater, 411 L St. NW, and workshops on gay subjects tomorrow afternoon at All Souls Unitarian Church, 1414 Harvard Street NW.

A gay communion service in Rock Creek Park at 3 p.m.

Sunday will be followed by a "Gay-In Picnic" at 4 p.m. Buses will leave Rock Creek Park at 3 p.m. for a gay vigil at Patuxent State Prison.

Another gay movement activity here this weekend will focus on political activity. The National Coalition of Gay Organizations expects between 250 and 300 delegates at a two-day strategy session to plan gay participation in this year's election politics. The meeting is being sponsored by the D.C. Gay Activists Alliance.

BILL BRICKER, a GAA spokesman, said the coalition first met two months ago in Chicago with about 150 delegates and formulated its primary objective: to get a gay plank included in the Democratic platform.

The coalition hopes to have a minimum of 6,000 gay lobbyists at the Democratic convention in July, Bricker said.

The coalition also has tentative plans for a demonstration tomorrow before the Republican National Committee's convention committee, which will be meeting at the Mayflower Hotel.

8 Killings Tied To 'Strip' Chill Area Homosexuals

By Keith R. Bickberg
 and Alfred E. Lewis
 Washington Post Staff Writers

The city of Ninth Street NW south of Vermont Square traditionally has been a "bustle" spot for Washington area homosexuals. In the last year, that strip has taken on a dangerous cast as eight homosexual men known to frequent the area have been stabbed, shot or bludgeoned to death in their homes or apartments.

In each of the murders, which are still unsolved, police believe the victim picked up his killer on the "bustle" trade there and invited the assailant to his home. Since September 1977, one victim was bludgeoned to death in his apartment, four were shot, two had been shot, and one man was found strangled in his car parked near the Chesapeake Home, a restaurant on Ninth Street NW.

The eight victims were all far older than the young men, often two-decades, who openly attend homosexual-sponsored gatherings looking for partners. One victim was 59 years old, two were in their 50s, two were over 40 and two others were over 30.

Members of the homosexual community say it is not a coincidence that the victims were in an older age category. That fact, they say, underscores the older homosexuals' uneasiness with the new, open "bustle" attitude of younger gay men.

The men who frequent the Ninth Street area—and the homes and apartments there such as the Chesapeake Home and the Gay Bar—are in many cases professionals: doctors, lawyers, teachers and government workers who feel that any open display of their homosexual behavior could lead to the loss of a job or the break-up of a marriage.

One victim, for example, was an administrator at the Office of Economic Development. While talking his boss down in the eighth homosexual "bustle" on the strip, he was shot in the back. His family still refuses to believe he was a homosexual.

In another slaying, the victim's family refused to believe that the man was a homosexual, despite the fact that he was bludgeoned to death in his car parked behind the city's best-known gay bar.

That victim—a 39-year-old Virginia man with a law degree—grappled the case of the homosexual who had said he was "out of the closet." The man refused to believe police detectives when they told him the man was homosexual.

It is the way that that many of the victims chose to live.

Murders Tied to 'Strip' Chill Area Homosexuals

GAYS, FROM C1

To solve their homosexuality that homicide investigators are having a difficult time finding leads in any of the murders.

In one case, a heterosexual friend of the slain homosexual manager of the Chesapeake Home posted a $1,000 reward for the killer, a homosexual man. He was asking for any information to solve his friend's murder. Despite the large sum offered as reward, homicide detectives say they received fewer than a dozen telephone calls, and none of the callers had any substantial information.

"Any time you are conducting a homicide investigation where there are no witnesses, you're starting at a disadvantage," said Captain Art Manning of the homicide squad. "Very often in a homosexual murder, we don't find the body until two or three days later because the murder usually takes place in private. These two things make the investigation different than the routine murder."

Despite the similarities in the eight murders—and despite rumors in the homosexual community that detectives do not believe a single killer is responsible for the slayings. There is no special homicide team assigned to the homosexual murders, and the eight open cases have been scattered among the homicide detectives' homicide murder squads.

For the most part, investigators admit that they are up against a wall in trying to solve any of the slayings. They must piece together the last hours of men who did their best to conceal their movements and their identities from their families and their closest companions.

That same problem hampered investigators in the Cinema Follies fire of October last year. Nine persons were killed in the blaze that destroyed that homosexual club in Southeast Washington, but since most of the victims carried no identification and many concealed their homosexuality, it took investigators four days to identify all the victims.

Homicide detectives, asked to pinpoint the primary difficulties in solving homosexual murders, said many, if not most, homosexuals are still "in the closet," and it is hard to find any leads to admit knowing a homosexual murder victim; homosexuals tend to keep their companions secret, even from other homosexuals. Homosexuals are how scattered all over Washington and are not confined to the "gay strip."

Police also said that in homosexual "bustle" areas and in murder, the perpetrator often feels justified. Police point out that not all homosexual murders are "love's quarrels." Many are routine burglaries and robberies.

Still, in the homosexual community, the thought of night-murdered victims—all where the victim picked up his killer as a "bustle"—conjures the immediate image of a "bustle" type killer taking out a "bustle" type victim on homosexuals in Washington.

It could be a bustle gone wrong or a "bustle" gone bad, but it is not a "bustle" of a "bustle," one homosexual said.

community who do not belong to the "single killer theory" believe that there is a "bustle" type killer at work in the slayings. They say, the last backlash against the new visibility of gays and gay organizations, and an outgrowth of the American right made and the Dada County, Va., appeal of homosexual rights laws.

Washington has one of the country's strongest laws protecting against employment and public accommodations. It also has pending a "bustle" sponsored referendum and recall election. The possibility that this might be used, as in Dade County, to repeal homosexual rights has sent chills through the homosexual community.

Legislation to activate the referendum process is pending in the City Council's government operations committee. It is a "bustle" type law that would prevent a vote to repeal homosexual rights, or any other civil rights. Homosexuals are looking hard at the referendum, and it has become a legal problem, as the bill is stalled.

"People generally feel threatened by the visibility of homosexuals," said the Rev. Larry Urlik of the Metropolitan Community Church. "We fear, the anger, the rage, is being directed at homosexuals."

Urlik believes one of these "violent acts" was the Oct. 2, 1976, slaying of Ronald J. Pettine, whose name, featured body was found in a car near the two times mentioned in Arlington, a widely known slaying place for homosexuals.

Michael G. Simpson, the 32-year-old who was convicted in June of Pettine's death, had testified in his own defense that the night of the murder he set out to "smash around a few guys."

While Urlik said he "could not be surprised if one person who leveled it more than one of the recent homosexual murders, he believes "It was an (anti-homosexual) 'bustle' type act" rather than any "bustle" type act on Washington-area homosexuals.

According to Robert J. Smith, president of the Gay Action Fund, charging that "bustle" type acts are crimes against gays is "nothing more than something a lot more complicated than the right recent murders."

For the short term, the Gay Alliance and the homosexual community are exploring ways to protect Washington area homosexuals from the most spread of violence.

In their regular meeting two weeks ago, a special committee of the alliance proposed—and the alliance accepted—endorsement of a series of safety precautions to recommend to owners of bars where homosexuals are frequenting.

The proposals, borrowed from a similar list prepared by the P.A.C. (Police Action Committee), included: security escorts for homosexuals; a "bustle" type night; car patrols around slaying hot spots; improved street lighting; and "bustle" type patrols. The committee also urged the police to make "bustle" type patrols in advance, and to make the bar owners to provide food and space for self-defense demonstrations for gay patrons.
